Music influences	s people in different v	ways or the same person	on differently at differen	t times. Music may seem to influence peo	ple differently. That i	s because people can r	eact differently to the m	usic. We are able to apply a choosing a pro	ocess to the music we	hear. If someone hates	s jazz, then a jazz piece v	with a positive effect will probably not mak	te him feel good. A h	appy song might appe	ar to make an angry per	son angrier, yet it is not the music itself th	nat is creating the ang	ger; rather it is the pos	sitive effect of the music	. The angry person does not want to accep	ot the song's happy fe	eling: it points out his	already existing anger, a	nd makes that anger come to the surface. V	When a piece of music	e is played and we are	listening to it, our body,	mind, and feelings are being affected. Th	e musicians of ancien	t cultures such as Chir	na, India, Turkey and Gr	eece understood the effects of music. In f	fact, Pythagoras, in a	ncient Greece, introdu	aced a whole science th	at concerned them.
Because the musicians	s of these ancient cult	ures understood these	effects, they created mus	ic that was positive, uplifting, and benefic	ial. Once the effects	of music are better u	nderstood, the next step	is to gain a better understanding of the n	nusic around us, and v	what effect it is actually	y having.
